All hail, dread LORD! who deals with mighty hand
To heaven, earth, sea, and air thy great command!
Who in their proper time to mortals give
The fruits of earth, on which they are to live!
Who in due season sends heat, snow, and rain,
And hoary frost, which binds the level plain!

Reviving sweets; the feather'd choir awake
Their artless songs, and all the enchanting scene

When nature, dreſt in all her vernal charms,
Around the beauteous landſcape ſmiles ſerene.
And crowns with every gift the lovely ſcene!

In weighty quick-descending show'rs;
While muddy streams, in swelling rills,
Rush rapid down the sloping hills.

Since autumn has fled, from her gay golden bower,
And nature no longer invites me to roam,
Th. Muse shall preside o'er retirement's lone hour,
And Friendship's soft lustres shall sparkle at home.

AN ACT

For the better Establishment of Common Schools.

Passed April 15, 1814.

I. Be it enacted by the People of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That there shall be constituted an officer within this state, known and distinguished as the superintendent of common schools; who shall be appointed by the council of appointment, and shall keep his office at the seat of government of this state; and be allowed an annual salary of four hundred dollars, payable in the same manner as is provided for other officers, by the act, entitled "an act for the support of government."

II. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the superintendent aforesaid, to digest and prepare plans for the improvement and management of the common school fund, and for the better organization of common schools; to prepare and report estimates, and expenditures of the school monies; to superintend the collection thereof; to apportion the monies to be distributed for the support of common schools; to execute such services relative to the sale of the lands, which now are, or hereafter may be appropriated, as a permanent fund for the support of common schools as may be by law required of him; to give information to the legislature, respecting all matters referred to him by either branch thereof or which shall appertain to his office: and generally to perform all such services, relative to the welfare of common schools as he shall be directed to perform; and shall, prior to his entering on the duties of his office, take an oath or affirmation for the diligent and faithful execution of his trust.

III. And be it further enacted, That out of the monies arising from the interest of the fund for the support of common schools, the sum of fifty thousand dollars, shall continue to be annually distributed among the several counties of this state, for the support and encouragement of common schools therein, until the interest of the said fund shall amount to ten thousand dollars, over and above the sum of fifty thousand dollars; and whenever and as often as the interest of the said fund shall hereafter amount to ten thousand dollars, over and above the sum then last before distributed, the sum of ten thousand dollars shall be added to the sum then last before distributed, and the whole amount be thereafter distributed as aforesaid. Which said sum or sums of money, so to be distributed as aforesaid, shall be apportioned by the superintendent of common schools, in the manner hereinafter directed, and be paid on the warrant of the comptroller, on the first day of February in each and every year hereafter, to the treasurers of the several counties aforesaid, entitled thereto, according to the apportionment thereof, to be made as aforesaid, and certified to the comptroller by the superintendent of common schools aforesaid.

IV. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the treasurer of each county, to apply for and receive all such monies, as shall from time to time be apportioned to his county, as soon as may be after the same shall become payable as aforesaid; and of receiving such monies it shall be the duty of such treasurer to obtain from the clerk of the board of supervisors of his county, the apportionment thereof, to be made by such clerk among the several towns of his county as is hereinafter directed, and to give notice in writing as soon thereafter as may be, to the commissioners of common schools or some or one of them, of each town in such county, of the amount of such monies apportioned as aforesaid to such town; and to hold the same subject to the order of the commissioners aforesaid of such town: And in case the commissioners aforesaid, of any such town, shall not apply for and receive such monies, so to be apportioned to their town as aforesaid, before the monies next thereafter payable to such county as aforesaid, shall be received by such treasurer, such monies, so remaining with such treasurer, shall be added to the monies next thereafter to be received by him as aforesaid, and be apportioned and paid together with such monies among the several towns of his county as aforesaid: And for receiving all such monies, and paying the same as aforesaid, such treasurer shall be entitled to the same compensation, as is provided by law, for receiving and paying other monies, which shall come into his hands; and shall account for all such monies, and be under like penalties and forfeitures for default therein, as is provided by law, for or in respect to other sums of money received by him.

V. And be it further enacted, That immediately after the passing of this act, it shall be the duty of the superintendent of common schools, to apportion the said sum of money, to be distributed as aforesaid, among the several counties of this state in the ratio of the population of such counties, as the same shall be ascertained by the latest census, whether of the United States or of this state, and to give notice thereof in writing, to each of the clerks of such counties, setting forth the amount of money apportioned to his county, and the time the same shall be payable: And whenever, and as often as the amount of monies to be distributed as aforesaid, shall hereafter be encreased as aforesaid, it shall be the further duty of the superintendent, to make a new apportionment of such monies among the several counties of this state, in the ratio of the population of such counties, as the same shall be ascertained by the then latest census, whether of the United States or of this state; and to give notice thereof in writing as aforesaid, at least nine months before the monies so to be distributed shall be payable.

VI. And be it further enacted, That whenever the clerk of any county shall receive notice of the apportionment of monies, to be distributed as aforesaid, he shall forthwith deliver, or transmit the same to the clerk of the board of supervisors, of such county, retaining a copy thereof and filing the same in his office: And it shall be the duty of the clerk of the board of supervisors of such county, immediately on receiving such notice, or as soon thereafter as may be, to apportion the amount of monies specified in such notice, among the several towns of such county, in the ratio of the population of such towns as the same shall be ascertained by the then latest census, whether of the United States or of this state, and shall exhibit and lay the said notice, so to be received by him, together with the apportionment so to be made by him as aforesaid, before the supervisors of such county, at their next meeting thereafter. And it shall be the duty of the supervisors of such county, at such meeting, and at every annual meeting thereafter to add to the sum or sums to be raised or levied on each of the said towns, for defraying the necessary expenses thereof, a sum, equal to the sum which shall be last apportioned as aforesaid, to such towns, with the addition thereto of five cents on a dollar of said sum, for collection fees, and to cause the same to be collected within the same time, and in the same manner as the other sums to be raised and levied on such towns, are by law to be collected; and to cause and require the collector of such town, by their warrant to him, to pay the same when collected, retaining his fees for collection, to the commissioners of common schools in such town, or to any or either of them, whose receipt therefor shall be good and sufficient evidence of such payment. Provided, that if there shall be no commissioners of common schools in such town at the time such monies shall be collected as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the collector of such town to pay the same when collected, into the hands of the county treasurer, to be by him added to and distributed with the monies next thereafter to be received and distributed by him in pursuance of this act.

VII. And be it further enacted, That in every case in which the freeholders and inhabitants of any town at their annual town meeting shall by a vote of said meeting, agree to raise a sum for the support of common schools, not exceeding three times the amount required by this act to be raised on such town, then and in such case it shall and may be lawful for the board of supervisors of the county in which such town is situate to direct the sum so voted to be raised by such town, to be levied and collected of the inhabitants of the same in the same manner that other town charges are levied and collected.

VIII. And be it further enacted, That the collector of such town shall account for the monies so to be collected by him and paid as aforesaid, in the same manner, and in case of his default in collecting, paying or accounting for the same, he shall be liable to the same penalties and course of procedure, as is provided by law for or in respect to the collection or payment of other sums of money, to be raised or levied on such town, for defraying the necessary expenses thereof as aforesaid. And the supervisors of such county shall severally be liable to the same penalties for refusal or neglect to perform any duty required of them by this act, as is provided for refusal or neglect to perform other duties in and by the tenth section of the act, entitled "an act for defraying the public and necessary charges in the respective counties of this state, and for other purposes."

IX. And be it further enacted, That the freeholders and inhabitants of each and every town in this state, who are or shall be qualified by law to vote at town-meetings, shall annually, at their annual town-meeting, or at any special town-meeting for that purpose to be called, choose three of the inhabitants of their town, being freeholders, to be commissioners of common schools in such town; also, a suitable number of persons, not exceeding six, being inhabitants of such town, who, together with the commissioners aforesaid, shall be inspectors of common schools in such town—which said commissioners and inspectors shall be chosen by ballot; and shall hold their respective offices for one year, and until others shall be chosen in their places: And in case any of the said officers so chosen, or to be chosen, as aforesaid, in any such town, shall refuse to serve, or die, or remove out of the town, or become incapable of serving, before the next annual town-meeting, the vacancy consequent thereon, shall be supplied in the same manner as is provided for supplying similar vacancies in other town officers, in and by the act, entitled "an act relative to the duties and privileges of towns;" and each of the officers so to be chosen or appointed to supply such vacancy as aforesaid, shall hold his office in the same manner as if he had been elected to the same office by the freeholders and inhabitants of such town at their annual town meeting.

X. And be it further enacted, That each of the said officers, so to be chosen or appointed as aforesaid, shall, before he enters upon the execution of his office, and within fifteen days after his election or appointment, as aforesaid, take and subscribe an oath, before some justice of the peace, in the form following, that is to say, "I do solemnly and sincerely promise and swear, (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I will, in all things, to the best of my knowledge and ability, well and truly execute the trust reposed in me as commissioner, (or inspector as the case may be,) of common schools, for (here insert the name of the town and county,) without favor or partiality." And every justice of the peace before whom such oath shall be taken and subscribed as aforesaid, shall, without fee or reward, certify under the same in writing, the day and year when the same oath shall be taken, and subscribe his name thereto, and then deliver such writing to the person taking such oath, who shall within eight days thereafter, transmit or deliver the same to the clerk of the town, for which such officer, so taking such oath, was elected or appointed; and if any such officer so chosen or appointed as aforesaid, shall not take and subscribe such oath as aforesaid, and transmit or deliver the same as aforesaid, within the time for that purpose limited, as aforesaid, such neglect shall be deemed a refusal to serve in such office; and if any person so chosen or appointed to such office as aforesaid, shall refuse to serve in such office, or shall serve therein before he shall have taken and subscribed such oath as aforesaid, then and in every such case, such person shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered with costs of suit, before any justice of the peace having jurisdiction thereof, by action of debt, the one moiety thereof to the use of the common schools of the town for which such officer was chosen or appointed as aforesaid, and the other moiety thereof with costs of suit, to the use of any person who shall prosecute for the same to effect.

XI. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the commissioners of common schools, or the major part of them, to divide their respective towns into a suitable and convenient number of school districts, and to alter and regulate the same, as hereinafter provided; and wherever it may be convenient and necessary to form a district out of two or more adjoining towns, it shall and may be lawful for the commissioners aforesaid, or the major part of them, from each of such adjoining towns, to form such district, and to alter and regulate the same as aforesaid. And wherever it has been usual, or shall hereafter be found convenient and proper for any neighborhood, or part of any town adjoining to any other state, to send their children to a school in such adjoining state, it shall be lawful for the commissioners of common schools in such town, or the major part of them, to set off such neighborhood or part of such town by itself, for the purpose aforesaid, and to alter and regulate the same as aforesaid. STATE OF NEW-YORK, ss.

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF COMMON SCHOOLS.

The new "act for the better establishment of Common Schools," is herewith published, and five thousand copies of it will be distributed, in pursuance of the provision contained in its last section. The distribution will be made by transmitting to the town clerk or some other person in each town, a number of copies sufficient to furnish the Commissioners of Common Schools, and the Clerks of School districts, with at least one copy for each; and the town clerk or other person, to whom copies of this act shall be sent, is requested to distribute the same accordingly.

The amendments and additions made to the old act, are numerous and some of them important; the most important will be found in the sixth section of the act, which requires the Board of Supervisors to levy on each town in their county, without any previous vote of direction from such town, a tax equal in amount to the sum which shall be apportioned to such town out of the school monies to be distributed. It will therefore be no longer necessary for the purpose of taxation, that a town should signify to the Board of Supervisors its acceptance or non-acceptance of the act. It is to be hoped and presumed that, as every town must now contribute to the support of Common Schools, every town will also partake of the benefits of such schools by complying with the provisions of the act; such towns as have neglected to comply with the act, and to elect the officers required under it, may at any time comply and elect such officers, by special town meetings.

It is proper to subjoin the following explanations, which have been given on the old act, and which are also applicable to the new one.

The Commissioners of Common Schools must distribute all monies which shall come into their hands for the use of Common Schools among their several school districts, not in proportion to the number of children taught in such districts, but in proportion to the number of children between the ages of five and fifteen years, actually residing in such district.

A school district which has been organized according to law, will be entitled to its share of the school monies for the first year, under the old act, although no school has been taught therein.

All monies which shall be received, by the Trustees of school districts, from the Commissioners of Common Schools, must be applied by them towards the payment of their teacher's wages—and this application must be so made as to lessen the amount payable by the employers, alike to all, that is, without reference to the ages of the scholars taught. For example, if a teacher be employed for a given sum per month, quarter or year, the Trustees must pay so much of that sum as they shall be enabled to do, out of the school monies which shall come into their hands from the Commissioners; the residue may, for the purposes of construction, be considered as the whole wages of the teacher, and be apportioned among the employers as heretofore, when no law on the subject existed. Again, if a teacher be employed for a given price for each scholar during a given period, the amount payable by each employer, must be ascertained as heretofore has been the practice, that is, in the same manner as if no monies had been received by the Trustees; this amount must then be reduced by the Trustees, so far as the monies in their hands will suffice for that purpose; and this reduction must be alike, that is, proportional to all the employers without regard to the ages of their children.

The Trustees of school districts have a discretionary power as to the time of applying the school monies, which they may receive, towards the payment of their teacher's wages; they should however, give notice of the time when they will apply it, if they think proper to apply it in any particular season of the year; and it is desirable that they should apply it in those seasons of the year which are most favorable to the attendance of poor children.

The Superintendent has learnt with regret, that there are still some towns in the state, who refuse to comply with the act; and others, who although, they first complied with it, have since retracted such compliance.—It is understood that the objection to the act comes from that class of men who do not feel themselves immediately interested in the concerns of common schools, and who therefore complain of bearing burdens, without enjoying benefits. In meeting this objection, the Superintendent can only say, that it is alike applicable to all other acts imposing burdens on the people; for the immediate benefits proposed by such burdens, are always unequally enjoyed. He, therefore, who does not make this objection to every other act of the Legislature imposing burdens on the people, is inconsistent with himself, when he confines that objection to the present act—But the objection, wherever made, is unworthy of a liberal mind; a man of such a mind will overlook the inequality of immediate benefits, and regard only the ultimate and lasting benefits here, if he finds equality, he is satisfied; and who, under such a view of the act before us, does not see an equal participation in its ultimate and final benefits? Who will confess himself so blind as not to see that, in this country, every man is interested in the education, as well of his neighbors, as his own household. And who, therefore, will shew himself so obstinate, as to persist in opposition to a system, which has for its object the diffusion of knowledge and by consequence the glory of our country and the preservation of our republican institutions.

THE TYPHUS FEVER,

Has prevailed this season, not only in this state, but in many parts of the United States, and has been attended with great mortality. The most successful mode of treatment we have heard of is, severe vomiting by Tartar Emetic, &c. profuse sweating, and strong stimulants. The vomiting casts off the viscous matter, which would otherwise adhere so closely as to produce speedy inflammation and mortification—the sweating seconds this operation, and frees the system from morbid matter generally—the stimulants strengthen the system, and assist the constitution in its struggle with this powerful enemy of human life. Bleeding is generally fatal—Cathartics do not relieve quick enough, and reduce the system too much, though in some few cases it may be necessary to use them. Medical assistance should always be procured as early as possible, as a few hours often decide the fate of the patient. Trenton, (N. J.) True American.

Cure for the Dyſentery—Dr. Abernethy, of South Carolina, has addreſſed to the public an account of what he declares to be 'a cure for the dyſentery,' which conſiſts of as much common table ſalt as a gill of fountain water will diſſolve, with which muſt be put one gill of vinegar; a little eſſence of pepper mint added to the whole, is an improvement.—Of this mixture give to grown perſons or children, every half or quarter of an hour, ſo much as their ſtomachs will bear; the ſick perſon may drink any good wine, brandy or ſpirits, diluted with water, and ſweetened with ſugar.

The following is recommended as a cure for the Dyſentery, by a reſpectable phyſician of Baltimore—'A decoction of the root of the Dew-Berry—The leaves put into a tea pot and boiling water poured on, will anſwer nearly as well.—The tea may be ſweetened with ſugar and creamed to the patient's liking, and he may drink as much as a pint at a time until he feels the benefit of it, and then gradually leave it off.

Croup and Whooping Cough.—A competitor for the prizs of 12,000 francs offered by the French government for the beſt memoir on the diſeaſe called the Croup—which is rendered memorable in the United States, as having occaſioned the death of that moſt eſtimable citizen George Waſhington—has propoſed the following as a ſpecific in this malady and the Whooping Cough. It is Liver of Sulphur alkalized—a ſulphat of potaſh, recently prepared, and browniſh. It may be given mixed with honey or ſugar. The doſe from the attack of the Croup to the decided diminution of the diſorder, is ten grains morning and evening, to be diminiſhed as the diſorder abates; and towards the cloſe, the morning doſe only to be given. The mixture of the ſulphur with the honey to be made at the moment of uſing. Young children will ſuck it off the end of the finger; but it may be given in a ſpoonful of milk, or of ſyrup thinned with water, or as a bolus; grown children take it beſt in this form. It uſually relieves in two days, but it muſt be continued until the cure is completed, and often beyond that period, for fear of a relapſe.

* * * * *

Whooping Cough—The moſt ſimple medicine is often the moſt efficacious, always the moſt ſafe—In this diſtreſſing complaint the following preſcriptions are in great repute—Diſſolve a ſcruple of tartar in a gill of water, add ten grains of Cochineal finely powdered, ſweeten it with fine ſugar—Give an infant the 4th part of table ſpoonful four times a day, and from 4 years and upwards, a ſpoonful may be given. The relief is immediate, and the cure generally in 5 or 6 days.

2. Take a gill of ſweet or olive oil, and the ſame quantity of common leeks, cut fine—ſimmer them moderately two or three hours: add honey ſufficient to make it palatable: Half a table ſpoonful is a potion for an adult—for infants and children, proportionably leſs: If taken 4 or 5 times a day, it will in a few days remove the diſorder.

Conſumption—Completely to eradicate this diſorder, I will not poſſitively ſay the following remedy is capable of doing; but I will venture to affirm, that 'by a temperate mode of living (avoiding ſpiritous liquors wholly) wearing flannel next to the ſkin, and taking every morning half a pint of new milk, mixed with the expreſſed juice of hoarhound,' the complaint will not only be relieved, but the patient ſhall procure to himſelf a length of days, beyond what its mildeſt form could give room to hope for. I am myſelf, ſir, a living witneſs of the beneficial effects of this agreeable, and tho innocent, yet powerful application. Four weeks uſe of the hoarhound and milk relieved the pains of my breaſt; gave me to breathe deep, long and free; ſtrengthened and harmonized my voice; and reſtored me to a better ſtate of health than I had enjoyed for many years.

* * * * *

Cure for the Dropſy.—Take the Milkweed root or Chickweed plant, either of them, of which form a decoction, to be drank occaſionally like tea—This ſimple remedy has cured many perſons in the very worſt ſtages of the diſorder.

* * * * *

Certain remedy for the Piles.—Take a quarter of a pound of ſulphu pour on it one quart of boiling water; ſtir it well; let it remain till cold and ſettled, and then drink a wine glaſs full two or three times a day, as your diſorder may be more or leſs ſevere.

Certain cure for grubs in Horſes.—Believing any information tending to the preſervation of this noble and ſerviceable animal will be generally intereſting, we communicate, upon the authority of a gentleman acquainted with the diſeaſes incident to the horſe kind, that Linſeed Oil is a certain cure for grubs in horſes. An half point is ſufficient.

To prevent the too free diſcharge of water from the mouth, which some ſuppoſe to be in conſequence of horſes feeding on the latter growth of graſs, give two ſpoonfuls of fine ſalt, and half a ſpoonful of fine powdered roſin daily, for 3 or 4 days; then deſiſt for a day or two, and repeat at intervals for ſome time.

Excellent and cheap ſubſtitute for Molaſſes.—An intelligent gentleman who is a practical farmer, has recently diſcovered an excellent ſubſtitute for Molaſſes.—He had a quantity of ſweet apples ground, then took the juice immediately from the preſs, before the fermentation had commenced, put it into a large boiler and boiled it down to ſyrup, which in taſte is pleaſanter than the common Weſt-India molaſſes and appears as little liable to ferment. From four gallons of cider he procured one gallon of ſyrup.

A ſubſtitute for Table Beer—Boil 1 oz. of hops, 1 oz. pounded ginger, and 4 lbs. molaſſes, in 2 gallons water: when cooled to the temperature of new milk, add yeaſt or emptings in the manner of malt liquor. This beverage is wholeſome and agreeable—is cheaper, and will keep much longer than common beer.

Directions for raiſing Turnips among Corn—Sow about a pint of turnip ſeed to the acre about the 25th of July, either before or after the laſt harrowing: Top the corn as ſoon as ripe enough, and pick and huſk as ſoon as the corn will admit: Cut down and bear off the ſtalks to let the ſun upon the turnips; and the ſweetneſs of the fodder will compenſate for the labor. Take in the turnips late in the fall: And by purſuing these directions, land producing 40 buſhels of corn to the acre, will at the ſame time produce 80 or 100 buſhels of turnips; which, for milch cows and ſheep will be of very great advantage.

Locuſt and thorn ſeed—how to prepare for ſowing—Being informed by Mr N. Ellicott, that locuſt ſeed ſcalded in water, and ſowed in March, would grow 3 feet in height the firſt ſeaſon; I made the experiment, and am happy to have it in my power to confirm the fact. I alſo made a ſimilar experiment upon the American thorn ſeed, which was alſo attended with ſucceſs.

To prevent birds, ſquirrels and worms deſtroying Corn when coming up—Put into a buſhel of ſeed corn into a large iron kettle, put on it half a pint of tar, or as much as the corn will take up warm, ſtir it till every kernel is covered over with tar, then ſtrew over it as much lime or aſhes as will ſtick to the corn when ſtirred together, all to be done while the tar is warm. Plant in good weather, and rely upon it you will be more than compenſated for all the trouble.

LOOK WELL TO YOUR FIRES!

Remember that fire is a good ſervant but a bad maſter: It cannot take care of itſelf; and your perſonal intereſts, as well as your duty to the public, require that you take care of it.

When you are about to leave the fire at ſtated times, make your calculations before hand to have no more fire than you can diſpoſe of with ſafety.

Never leave one ſtick of wood upon another, partly burnt.

Never leave a ſtick partly burnt ſtanding in the corner.

Examine your bruſh after ſweeping a hearth eſpecially at night.

Never ſuffer hot aſhes to ſtand in a wooden veſſel.

Never leave papers or linen near your fire. Never read in bed by candle light.

After all theſe precautions, remember that an inhabited building is liable to deſtruction by fire. Be prepared for an emergency: Keep your water bucket filled When a fire has begun, ſuffer it not to be increaſed by a needleſs current of air from doors and windows.

Should the fire have made ſuch progreſs as to prevent your eſcape by a ſtaircaſe, and ſhou'd the diſtance be too great to leap from a window, endeavor to deſcend by the help of your bed-cord or by tying your bed clothes together. It would be well to keep a rope in your chamber for this purpoſe.

If ſafety does not appear probable in this way, wrap yourſelf up in a blanket, hold your breath, and ruſh through the flames. If water be at hand, firſt wet the blanket.

ADVERTISEMENT.

AS the Authors are well aware, that whatever has the appearance of novelty is, from this very circumstance, in danger of meeting with an unfavorable reception; they request nothing more than a critical observation of the certificates annexed, and an impartial examination of the method proposed, being willing to submit it to the merit of the performance to the determination of the candid and judicious. As the introduction of the four singing syllables, by characters, shewing at sight, the name of the notes, may perhaps be considered as subjecting those who are taught in this manner to difficulty in understanding other books, without this assistance—the authors would just observe, that if pupils are made acquainted with the principle here laid down, the objection will be found, by experience, more specious than solid. To this it might be added, that in the old way, there are not less than seven different ways of applying the four singing syllables to the lines and spaces, which is attended with great difficulty: But this difficulty is entirely removed upon the present plan; and we know of no objection to this plan, unless that it is not in use; which objection is no objection at all, or at least, cannot be decisive, as this would give currency to the entire rejection and exclusion of all improvements whatever.—And as the novelty of a singing book rendered so easy, from its improvements, that any person of a tolerable voice might actually learn the art of psalmody without an instructor, if they could but obtain the sounds of the eight notes, which has led its advocates to request a publication of the same. We have, therefore, the pleasure to inform the public, that since subscriptions have been in circulation for this book, we have been honored with upwards of three thousand subscribers: In consequence of which we flatter ourselves, that this book will meet with a kind reception.

Recommendations of the Work.

The Rev. DAVID PORTER, D. D. of Catskill, has favored us with his opinion, as follows :

"I have examined the Historical Dictionary with some care, and think it contains as rich a compendium of facts, concisely and elegantly expressed, as any work of its size within the compass of my knowledge. It is a book in my opinion admirably adapted to youth ; and such is its real merit that I am convinced that it needs only to be known to entitle it to the universal patronage of schools and academies throughout our country.

"The book contains an epitome of science, chaste, moral, and beautifully descriptive ; and it cannot fail both to entertain and instruct. DAVID PORTER."

The Rev. TIMOTHY CLOWES, Minister of the Episcopal Church in the city of Albany, has politely furnished us with the following recommendation :

Albany, May 24, 1813.

Messrs. WEBSTERS & SKINNERS,

At your request I have examined Mr. Sampson's Historical Dictionary, and have no hesitation in stating it as my opinion that the plan and execution of the work are alike excellent. Compilations of this kind are of more use than is generally imagined. The young and the ignorant need them ; the better informed have frequent occasion to be reminded of what they formerly learned. Much is contained in this book which every child ought to know, and with which he has few opportunities of being acquainted in the course of a common school education. What is here comprised will have a beneficial tendency to excite curiosity in youth, and direct their attention to works of more established credit and greater pretensions. Were it to be introduced into schools as a class book, it would advance the pupils in the art of reading as rapidly as any other, while at the same time it would impart to their minds a store of useful and interesting knowledge.

Yours, TIMOTHY CLOWES.

PRACTICAL PIETY ;

Or the Influence of the Religion of the Heart on the Conduct of the Life.

BY HANNAH MORE.

The fear of God begins with the Heart, and purifies and rectifies it ; and from the Heart, thus rectified, grows a conformity in the life, the words, and the actions. Sir Mathew Hale's Contemplations.

Extract from the Preface.

The slight sketch, for it pretends to no higher name, aims only at being plain and practical. Contending solely for those indispensable points, which, by involving present duty, involve future happiness. The writer has avoided, as far as christian sincerity permits, all controverted topics ; has shunned whatever might lead to disputation rather than to profit.

The writer has endeavored to address herself as a christian who must die soon, to christians who must die certainly. She trusts that she shall not be accused of erecting herself into a censor, but be considered as one who writes with a real consciousness that she is far from having reached the attainments she suggests ; with a heartfelt conviction of the danger of holding out a standard too likely to discredit her own practice. She writes not with the assumption of superiority, but with a deep practical sense of the infirmities against which she has presumed to caution others. She wishes to be understood as speaking the language of sympathy, rather than of dictation ; of feeling rather than of document. So far from fancying herself exempt from the evils on which she has animadverted, her very feeling of those evils has assisted her in their delineation. Thus this interior sentiment of her own deficiencies, which might be urged as a disqualification, has, she trusts, enabled her to point out dangers to others.—If the patient cannot lay down rules for the cure of a reigning disease, much less effect the cure ; yet from the symptoms common to the same malady, he who labors under it may suggest the necessity of attending to it. He may treat the case feelingly, if not scientifically. He may substitute experience, in default of skill : he may insist on the value of the remedy he has neglected, as well as recommend that from which he has found benefit.

Receipt to make Wine.—To a barrel of pure Cider, made of sound clean apples, add two gallons of honey (or sufficient to make an egg swim) as soon as pressed.—When the fermentation ceases and the sediment settles, rack it off into a clean cask, add two gallons of French Brandy, and also the white of five eggs and half a pint of new milk beat well together, and place it in a cellar. It will be fit for use by midsummer. Brandy or honey, or loaf sugar, (which is a very good substitute) may be added to please the taste at any time. Thus a pleasant wine may be made for less than fifty cents per gallon.

Improved Supaan—When the Indian meal is well boiled, beat up 2 or 3 eggs and throw them into the pot—let the Supaan be then well stirred over the fire about a minute, and you will find it an highly improved dish.
